LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A NUMBER of interesting letters on subjects of local importance and several original articles are unavoidably "crowded out" of this issue.

TEN and three-quarter miles is the range that the French have obtained for the 43-ton gun, thirty-five feet long, with an 800-weight projectile and 425 pounds of powder.

THE "blue-nose" bark case ended ingloriously this morning. Neither of the sailors turned up, and the Captain stated that they had asked for leave to come ashore and not returned.

A REGULAR meeting of Zetland Lodge, No. 525, will be held in Freemasons' Hall, Zetland Street, precisely. Visiting brethren are cordially invited.

We read that the additional tea shipments from Kobe by the steamer Glenkelt comprise 20,910 lbs. for New York, and 21,024 lbs. for Canada, which bring up the total sent by that vessel to 773,158 lbs.

THE Marquis of Donegal recently stated in the Bankruptcy Court that his liabilities amounted to £518,888 and his total income to only £680 a year. He attributes his insolvency to the fact that his expenditure has exceeded his income.

The Japanese in Nagasaki waited vain, and for a whole week they kept worrying "Joss" with musical instruments and other modern tortures to answer their prayer. "Joss" complied. The "Japs" in Nagasaki are now regretting that they did not ask for a limited supply. It has been pouring down ever since their prayers were answered.

A REPORT of the suit Wotton and Deacon v.
Pitman, heard in the Summary Jurisdiction Court this morning before Mr. Acting Justice Wise, will be found in another column. As both plaintiffs and defendant are well known citizens of this "dot on the ocean," we think the proceedings will be read with interest, and being read will be carefully thought over and digested. We feel that way.

AN act of considerable gallantry, says the Japan Herald of the 17th inst., was performed in the harbour on Saturday morning on the departure of the P. M. S. City of Rio de Janeiro, when Mr. G. H. Scidmore, U. S. Vice Consul-General at this port, rescued a would-be Japanese suicide from drowning. The man had attempted to smuggle himself on board the Rio at the last moment, and, being detected, had jumped overboard. Mr. Scidmore, who happened to be near by on board a launch, jumped in after the man, who was some hundred yards away, and succeeded in holding him above water until the launch steamed up. The man was unconscious when rescued, but was speedily brought to.

MIGHT we be permitted to remind the Government that the wholesale introduction of Japanese geishas into Hongkong is not calculated to improve the public morality of the colony? We will not venture to offer any advice to His Excellency the Governor, although we certainly hold a very strong opinion that barbers and finkies are about all the Japanese imports we have room for at present. But the following pass from the Nagasaki Rising Sun may suggest something. On the 11th inst. a party of seven native women were arrested by the police whilst in the act of taking passage secretly on board the P. and O. steamer Kihwa, bound for Hongkong, without being in possession of the necessary passport.

THE Hyogo News of the 19th inst. says:— Private information reached us yesterday from a correspondent in Chemo that on the night of the 3rd instant the branch shop at Sui belonging to Messrs. Kung, Hing & Co., of this port, was totally destroyed by fire. Next morning the remains of one of the shopmen were found among the ruins, and a medical examination disclosed that he had been murdered. It then transpired that the perpetrators of the crime had robbed and fired the place, and a reward of $1,000 has been offered for their apprehension, or for such information as will lead to their arrest. An opinion prevails that the perpetrators of this triple outrage are Chinese vagrants from Chefoo, as it is too daring a crime for Korean offenders to attempt.

A FIRE broke out about eight o'clock last night in a thatched on the slope of Mount Gough, just below a house in course of erection for Mr.
Stewart-Lockhart. A group of the frail tenements were around it, and piled at the summit of the slope was a quantity of wood, for use as building material. These were all quickly in a blaze, and very fine it looked for about half-an-hour, the flames illuminating the whole city, although about fifteen hundred feet above it. Thousands turned out and gazed with upturned faces at it, and various fine residences in the vicinity were illuminated by the light of the fire. The police and others at the Peak did their best to save the property, but as there was no water obtainable it had to be left to burn itself out.
The damage is estimated at $2,000.

A LONDON writer gives the following description of "The Shrine of Venus," the Royal Academy picture of Alma Tadema: "The picture represents the sumptuous interior of a hair-dresser's shop in ancient Rome. Two ladies, clad in beautiful draperies, are reclining on the cushions of a marble seat within the cool shade of the 'shop,' their hair apparently in the initial stage of dressing. Beyond, a young girl is leaning over the counter laden with all sorts of perfumes and unguents—descending to the ladies who pass to and fro in the sunny street on the virtues of some new cosmetic which she presses upon them. A small shrine of Venus, so common in the land, appears in the corridor, bathed in the flowers that have been offered as tributes by the devoted customers; and to this mass a lady who is entering adds another tribute to the much worshipped goddess."

JAMESON, the famous Irish distiller, who died the other day worth close on half a million, was one day being driven round Dublin by a local Jarvey. Passing St. Patrick's Cathedral, which was then being restored, he inquired of the carriage driver at whose expense the repairs were being done. "Begorra, sir," answered the Jarvey, "Sir Arthur is doing it—the double X stout man." "Oh, indeed," said Jameson, "that's very kind of him." Later on, passing Christ Church, which was also being repaired, Jameson put a similar query. "Oh, sir," George Roe, the distiller, is looking after that one, sir." "But tell me," continued Jameson, "they tell me old Jameson, the whiskey man, has piles of money.
Isn't he doing anything good with it?" "Begorra, sir, it's a secret; but they do say that on the quiet he's building a Lonsdale asylum, to put the other two idiots into."

THE Hyogo News of the 17th inst. says:—"We regret to have to announce the death of Mr. W. de Russett, the agent of the P. and O. Company, which occurred at his residence, No. 109 Concession, at half-past four o'clock this morning.
The deceased gentleman had been suffering from fever during the past week, and although confined to bed no apprehensions were entertained as to his recovery. On Saturday night, however, very alarming symptoms were ap-

Russett had been long connected with the P. & O.
Co., and stood so high in the estimation of the Directors that when the Company decided to open a branch in Kobe he was chosen to occupy the position. Of Mr. de Russett's career since his arrival in Kobe it is almost unnecessary to speak.
Every one with whom he was brought into contact in business matters will have a lively recollection of his obliging courtesy and unwearied efforts to satisfy the numerous requirements of the Company's constituents. And Mr.
de Russett's numerous friends will long remember with affectionate regret the kindly disposition that underlay his retiring and modest demeanour.
Mr. de Russett was well-known and deservedly popular in Hongkong. At one time he was a prominent figure in social circles, and as a member of the Choral Society distinguished himself on more than one occasion. He will be sincerely regretted by a large number of friends.

tained as to his recovery. On Saturday night,
parent, and he gradually became worse. Mr. de Russett had been long connected with the P. & O.
arrival in Kobe it is almost unnecessary to speak.
Every one with whom he was brought into
recollection of his obliging courtesy and un-
wearied efforts to satisfy the numerous requirements of the Company's constituents. And Mr.
that underlay his retiring and modest demeanour.
Mr. de Russett was well-known and deservedly
prominent figure in social circles, and as a
himself on more than one occasion. He will be
sincerely regretted by a large number of friends.

EXAMPLES OF THE COST

OF ASSURANCE TO A MAN AGED 30.

NEXT BIRTHDAY.

STG. payable at death, would cost at the rate of:—

£1,000 (a) If premiums are payable for whole of life or £9 11 6 (b) If premiums are limited to 20 years or £11 4 6 (c) If premiums are limited to 15 years or £13 0 0 (d) If the Sum Assured is made payable at age 50, or at death if previous.

AFTER being three years in force, each year's payment of premium secures a proportionate part of Sum Assured as explained in Prospectus. For instance: after five years a man Assured under plan d would be entitled to a Free Paid-up Policy for 5/10ths of Sum Assured, viz., £500, should he wish to discontinue future payments.

The same provisions if commenced at age 40 n. b. would cost respectively (a) £18.15, (b) £11.50, (c) £13.24, (d) £27.08 per quarter. Note.—It is an advantage to effect Provisions of this nature early in life. By delay the rate of subscription increases; Death may occur before the Provision is effected, or Health may fail and render the life ineligible for Assurance.
